ABOUT US:

Small Town Boyz have had a busy year. In 2009, they rocked the SHOW ME CENTER with Ludo (of MTV, MTV Cribs, the Tonight Show, and Jimmy Kimmel Live.) Even though “Small Town” may be in their name, they have a HUGE rock sound in every song that they play. No screaming music here, just great (original) rock ‘n roll from a young band of rock professionals. Some of their original songs include: Ten Thousand Cities, Watchtower, Dreamin’ On, You Can’t Break the Wall, Hoodoo, Hot Jungle Fever, These are the Best of Days, Got No Time for Love, and a whole lot more. The Boyz do throw in some cover tunes so the crowd can rock along with them, sing, and dance. Crowds of all ages love them.

When Small Town Boyz performed at the 2009 Jackson Homecoming’s Concert, the crowd went wild and the boys delivered an amazing performance. To make the concert sweeter, they were sponsored by Monster Energy® and they gave away tons of Monster® gear. Their tours also include concerts for Missouri and Kentucky Schools – they’re HUGE supporters of keeping Music in our Schools. The officials at Fulton County School told the group that the girls cried when the Boyz completed their concert. Small Town Boyz have rocked in Memphis, Tennessee at the Charles Brakeman Building (on the same stage as Elvis Presley), throughout Missouri (SEMO District Fair, River City Music Festival, Mississippi Mud House, McAlister’s, Broussard’s, Rude Dog Pub, Stooges, Scott City FallFest, among others.)

In 2009, Small Town Boyz competed in a contest sponsored by Fender that ranked them TOP 50 in the nation (out of 17,564 bands). The boys range in age from 13 to 17, but they are ranked with the best for a reason – these guys know how to ROCK. No cursing at all, but powerful original compilations that will bring any crowd to their feet! The bigger the crowd, the better.
